AUBURN, Ala., Feb. 24, 2017 /PRNewswire/ — InsureScan, a leading provider of data-entry free quoting & sales interface solutions, today announced that Venture Capitalist, Founder of Margaris Advisory and serial entrepreneur Spiros Margaris has joined the team as an advisor. Margaris new role with InsureScan leverages his experience as a global brand and business leader, being ranked No. 1 Global Top 100 Fintech Influencers as well ranked No. 2 Top 100 InsurTech Influencers and Brands by Onalytica.com.

“InsureScan has a unique proposition, and almost limitless possibilities to where their technology can go. I am thrilled to be a part of this game-changing organization,” says Spiros about his involvement. “We’re excited that Spiros has elected to join InsureScan and we consider his decision to bring a wealth of experience and boundless creativity to our advisory board to be a testament to the value we’re offering,” added Mark Chappell, President and CEO.

Working together with Spiros, Jason Bissell, Chief Operating Officer of InsureScan commented, “Margaris Advisory brings us the upper echelon of highly connected industry experts, and I believe together we have the opportunity to reinvent the new-customer quoting and sales process within the current auto-insurance market. Our enterprise solutions were designed to give agencies and their producers a more streamlined quoting and processing engine, removing the need for manually entering in required client information, increasing efficiency and lowering overhead.”

About InsureScan

InsureScan is the next generation of integrated and patented solutions, a complete smartphone system solution that integrates agencies existing quoting, policy management and document processing all in one easy-to-use white labeled service. Freeing the agents from the confines of their inefficient day-to-day, and heavily reducing time spent manually entering in data including the overhead cost of fixing those errors at a later date. In addition to these features, InsureScan’s patented mobile claims processing solution saves customers and insurance companies both time and money.
